

4. Sustainability

From fewer chemicals and less water-intensive growing to environment-friendly packaging (the LCBO's lighter-glass "Canada bottle" is a global game-changer), wine is going smaller-footprint. Get on board with Organic Chardonnay from carbon-neutral delivery Cono Sur or Ciao Sangiovese Organic in a light, recyclable Tetra Pak. Ontario's Tawse and Southbrook make naturally grown organic and biodynamic wines — and, like most Ontario VQA wineries, are committed to the Sustainable Winemaking Ontario program.

Best Wines for the Beach

Summer just doesn't feel complete without at least one beach day. But for the wine lover, beach days can be a bit tricky. You obviously want to bring wine to the beach, but can't have anything too heavy, breakable or hard to open. That counts out all glass wine bottles, which doesn't leave you with many options! But fear not, as a beach and wine lover I have experimented with all the tetra paks and canned wine out there. I have three favourites that taste great and are perfect for the beach day.

Tetra-Paks - Ciao Sangiovese

While some are critical of carton wine packaging, I think tetra-paks are great for certain wines and certain times! And the beach is one of those times that the light weight and durability of cardboard wine boxes is very welcome. The Ciao Sangiovese is light bodied, dry and fruity and tastes even better a bit chilled. Throw this carton into your cooler and enjoy the perfect chilled red wine at the beach. Plus it's organic, 1000ml and only $12.80 at the LCBO.
